Dr. Joshua Lederberg
President
The Rockefeller University
1230 York Avenue
New York, NY 10021

Dear Doctor Lederberg:

The book, Medicine: Preserving the Passion, which you contributed to two or three years ago will be released from the publisher in the next week or so. I will see that you get a copy.

I am writing, however, for a different reason. My father, Phil R. Manning, Sr., will celebrate his hundredth birthday November 18, 1987. He continues to be mentally alert and has lost none of his enthusiasm for living. I am in the process of asking notable individuals who have made exceptional contributions in science during his lifetime to write him a short note of congratulations. I would be most grateful, and I know my father would be thrilled, if you would write him such a letter.

Address to: Phil R. Manning
South Pasadena.

Send in stamped addressed envelope to: Phil R. Manning, M.D.
Associate Vice President
University of Southern California

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
